

What can a user do with the source code once it has been released?

The user is entitled to use the source code only to maintain their software application. They may not copy it, remove copyright notices, sub-license it to other people, use it to create a product or offer a service to another company. The user can be granted other rights too.

Please contact the Escrow Team on 020 7331 2195 or submit an enquiry for a copy of the Flexible Terms of Business.